

Success through my PASSION For LIFE

By electing to attend Indiana University's prestigious Kelley School of Business, I have accepted the challenge of developing for my future. Coupling my creativity along with my interpersonal skills and communication, I continue to build upon my aspirations of studying as a Marketing major in the classroom and in the community. It is tough to hold myself back from my studies, as I covet being out in front. In terms of success, I feel as though it is a state of being rather than something tangible. Above it all, regardless of where life takes me, I will always be found with an open-mind and a smile.
